Crow and Magpie Drive Still Short Of Objective

The race for the deadline is on as far as the Vulcan Fish & Game Association's Crow and Magpie drive is concerned. Aiming at a local quota of 500 pair of legs of these pest birds, the objective is in sight but not yet in hand and Fish & Game president Bill Holton claims the need is for 80 more pairs.

Youngsters have until Sept. 23, another five weeks to help put the drive over the top. Also, with hunting season rapidly approaching, the suggestion has been made that these birds would make dandy target practice to sharpen up for the shotgun wars to come.

By all reports it would appear that there was a good hatch of geese in the north country which may help compensate for the duck population which has a forecast of only fair.

Arrangements are now being made to have the next Fish & Game meeting at Milo with the date to be soon after harvest.

Carlson - Herbig Rites Solemnized

Miss Anne Dorothy Herbig and Gordon Alfred Carlson exchanged vows before the Rev. Peter Millen on Saturday, July 15, in St. Chad's Anglican Church, Lundbreck. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. Herbig of Lundbreck, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Carlson of Champion. Pink and white carnations adorned the altar for the four o'clock ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, Miss Herbig was attired in a Cathedral length gown of nylon and silk sheer over taffeta, with lace panels, sequins, an embroidered neckline, and lily-point sleeves. Her chapel-length veil cascaded from a sequin-covered headpiece, and she carried a bouquet of cascading pink roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Betty Carlson of Lethbridge and Miss Nobuko Nakatsu of Coaldale were bridesmaids, and Miss Ruth Herbig was maid-of-honor. They wore identical gowns of shadow flowered nylon sheer with cummerbunds and complementing headpieces in shades of blue, pink and yellow respectively. Donald Versluys of Champion was best man, Mrs. George F. Heaton of Maycroft was organist and Leroy Fields of Calgary was soloist for the occasion. Ushering the guests were Brough Warren of Lundbreck and Gary Jopling of Champion.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Herbig chose a lilac nylon sheer over printed silk dress, with white accessories and yellow rose corsage. Mrs. Carlson was attired in a dress of embroidered turquoise sheer over plain silk, white accessories and a yellow rose corsage.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in St. John's Anglican Hall in Pincher Creek. Mrs. Jim Lowe of Cardston presided over the guest book and Frank Lynch-Staunton was master of ceremonies. Miss Mary Dwyer of Lundbreck had charge of the gift table. Toasts were proposed to the wedding party.

For her honeymoon to the Pacific Coast and the northwestern United States, the bride chose for her travelling costume a green silk linen sheath dress with white jacket and accessories, and pink carnation corsage. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Carlson will reside on the groom's farm in the Champion district.

Out-of-town guests in attendance at the wedding included the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Gordon Kay, and his aunt and cousin, Mrs. Vogler and Miss Marian Vogler, all of Vancouver; the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Carlson of Calgary; the bride's aunt and cousins, Mrs. N. Davis, Miss Louise Herbig, Miss Muriel Herbig and Miss Roberta Herbig, all of Olds; and the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Herbig and Alan and Mabel of High River; W. R. McRae and Geo. Cress and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Dowler of Calgary.

Remember the good old days—when charity was a virtue, not an industry?

Most of the 22 County owned buses are shown above lined up at the County workshop lot waiting for their first load of students in the coming term.

Thirty-three more vans owned privately are also being readied and during the coming year a total of approximately 1,250 students will be vanned to various schools in the County. During the summer months County owned buses are put through the garage where major overhaul can be done if needed and in all cases a complete check is given each vehicle.

The County has four vans of their own operating out of Vulcan, three each from Carmangay, Lomond, Champion and Mossleigh, two at Herronton and one from Brant, Milo and Arrowwood. One spare bus is kept readied for emergency service. In all, 14 buses are used transporting students to Vulcan schools.

While five vans are 36-passenger units the majority carry a load of 20 or 30 students. All are GM manufactured and excepting for one 1955 model the County owned vans are all 1958's or better. Lifetime of a van depends partly on its year, condition and depreciation value, among other factors. At a rough average, vans may put on 15,000 miles each term giving total mileage for the 55 vans at about 825,000 miles.

Crop About 75% of Normal

Straight Combining And Swathing Under Way

Hot, dry weather with little wind — giving ideal harvest conditions — has prevailed the past week and reports indicate that swathing and straight combining is general in the areas east and south of Vulcan.

West and north, it will be this weekend or the early part of next week before harvesting operations are general and, generally speaking, crops in these areas are expected to yield better than in the south and east parts of the county.

The rapid growth of weeds in grain fields since the heavy rains in July has created a problem in many areas, with farmers undecided whether to swath or straight combine. This is an additional problem in a growing season that has seen crops attacked by drought and by grasshoppers.

Average yield over a 30-year period in this part of Southern Alberta is 17 to 18 bushels per seeded acre and it is felt that this year will see about a three-quarters average crop or about 13 bushels of spring wheat per seeded acre. Some fields will yield a good 20 bushels per acre, but the eastern part of the county was hard hit by the drought and the average yield in that area will be well down. Winter wheat and rye have yielded above expectations and flax appears to be surprisingly good.

The mercury climbed to close to 90 above on Tuesday. The forecast called for somewhat cooler weather on Thursday of this week.

As the Advocate went to press Wednesday morning, the temperature was 66 degrees and light rain was falling.

Regular Meeting Reid Hill W.I.

Thirteen members and one visitor were present at the regular meeting of the Reid Hill W.I., held Thursday, Aug. 10, at the home of Mrs. A. Sales. Mrs. R. Harold was in the chair and conducted the meeting, assisted by the secretary, Mrs. J. French. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Kuykendall.

Roll call was answered, "An outstanding event that happened to me during the past year." Business was very light and routine. Birthday gifts were presented to Mrs. W. Frickelton, Mrs. H. Rutberg, Mrs. J. French and Mrs. Sales, whose birthdays fall this month.

Several games of bingo were played, with aprons donated by

Trip To Arctic Rolls Up Mileage

Lionel Lucas and Bev Banks may not cover another mile the rest of this summer but they've still logged more holiday mileage in two days than most of us would in three weeks. This all came about through a plane trip up to the land of the midnight sun along the Arctic circle.

It seems to have involved little expense too as, from the descriptions from the travellers, the steepest knock, besides the trip to Edmonton, was the purchase of a pair of mukluks from Eskimo ladies in the northland.

A cousin of Bev's, Gordie Latham, is a pilot for Eldorado Aviation, whose runs usually take them Arctic bound from Edmonton. Through his coaxing, and the connection that the elder Lucas, Phil, at one time flew the north country with Eldorado owner, Alf Kaywood, both men took the trip.

Bev went up from Edmonton for his two-day jaunt Tuesday, June 27, while Lionel arranged for time in the second week of July.

It's about a 3,600 mile round trip on this northern "milk-run" if passengers and supplies which end at a DEW line settlement whose shortened name is "Tuck," located 60 miles from Aklavik along the Arctic circle. Among many stops along the route were such names as Fort Smith, Fort McMurray, Bear River, Yellowknife and Norman Wells.

Bev arrived at Tuck in drizzle and snow with a temperature of 35 degrees, and turned down an invitation to bathe among ice bergs in the Arctic ocean just off one runway.

It was a mild 87 degrees during Lionel's visit the warmest in three years for that point. Water, muskies, trees and rocks make up much of the area over which they flew and while no vegetation other than muskies exists at Tuck, they say vegetables will grow and ripen during the short warm period at Aklavik.

Another phenomenon, strange to the local travellers, was the constant sun which described a rough circle on the horizon in its passage over the earth in the north.

The tea draw was won by Mrs. J. C. MacMillan after which lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Lindy Sales.

Fr. H. F. Ritter Dies At Calgary

Parish priest at St. Andrew's Catholic Church, Vulcan, from 1937 to 1962, Father Henry F. Ritter died in the Holy Cross Hospital, Calgary, this week.

He was 78 years of age and on July 23 this year had marked the 53rd anniversary of his being elevated to the priesthood. He was born in England and was ordained there before coming to Canada.

On leaving Vulcan in years ago he retired to St. Mary's in Calgary and had spent the past four years in the Lacombe Home.

City Pilots Hold 'Fly-in' At Vulcan

Another Fly-In, staged at the local air strip, was held last Sunday with Vulcan Flying Club guests of members of the Lethbridge and Calgary Flying Clubs.

About one dozen planes came in Sunday morning and opened their agenda with a swim at the pool followed by a softball game staged between the two city groups.

To completely separate the two teams, the southern boys donned ladies wear which explains some of the hefty overdressed forms seen down town later in the day.

A corn roast, sponsored by Stan Broder of Lethbridge and held at the Memorial park picnic shelter ended a most successful day.

Mossleigh Student To Attend Seminar

Frank Hagedorn, Mossleigh High School, through the sponsorship of Mossleigh Home and School Association has been selected to attend "The UNESCO Seminar in Science" being held at the new Physical Science Building on the University of Alberta campus from Aug. 20 to 26. Participating students, having excelled in science courses in Alberta schools, will be given an opportunity to consider world problems of food and power supply from a scientific point of view, with particular reference to the role of science in helping developing countries.

Two Buildings Razed and One Damaged By Main Street Fire

Fire ravaged a downtown Vulcan business block late Sunday night and in its wake left two businesses completely gutted, a third badly damaged and others suffering from effects of smoke.

The Chinese operated New Club Cafe from where the fire originated was burned to the ground. Only a shattered brick front and two partial brick walls remain of Simpson's Plumbing building and the John Wolfe Hardware lost its top floor and contents, received severe roof and interior ceiling damage and, although there was no actual flame damage to the main floor, some breakage occurred and practically everything was soaked with water. Stock in the basement was also destroyed.

All three trucks of the fire department including the rural pumper, and about 20 firemen turned out for the call which came in at 11:50 p.m. and as the fire spread the Champion and Arrowwood units were called.

First reports to police indicate the New Club Cafe was closed and unoccupied when fire broke out in the kitchen. For a short time there was only smoke pouring from the building and it appeared the fire might be held to the cafe.

However the inside was completely ablaze and it suddenly mushroomed into a huge mass of flame with fire coming from the roof, two upper windows and the store front. Fire Chief Bob Johnston took a hose on fog nozzle into the rear entrance but was almost surrounded by flames and driven back.

Total dollar loss from the fire has not been estimated. In the case of the John Wolfe Hardware an insurance adjuster could only term the loss as "substantial" for the present.

At various times during the fire, on roofs, contact with huge flames was so close that water blowing back from hoses was warm in the firemen's faces. An insufficient number of fire-fighting coats and boots to go around the crew left Dave Mitchell and Alan Taylor on a roof in street clothes and they were completely drenched when they came down for coffee.

During the fire coffee and refreshments were passed around to firemen and after the peak had passed around 2:15 a.m. the men were invited to the Royal Cafe for lunch.

When the New Club Cafe burst into open huge flames the heat was so intense that it was uncomfortable standing on the opposite side of the street. Had the fire reached corner of the block it was feared a similar heat build-up would endanger the Dobbs Hotel opposite, and it, second to the line of elevators, is most feared by the local fire brigade, because of its

In the early stages of the fire a line of volunteers removed cases of shotgun and rifle ammunition from the hardware along with other inflammable items and left the paint section along the side of the building away from the fire, intact. Store records and business ledgers were also removed.

When the fire broke loose and caught the top floor of the hardware everything movable was taken from stores, offices and suites along the block to the corner and to the Red & White and the apartment block on the next corner opposite the theatre.

A store full of clothing and fixtures was removed from the Fashionette. Two chairs and equipment were carried from the dentist office of Dr. Schneider while other helpers hauled cabinets of files, records and shelves of books from the offices of lawyer John Jamison.

Upper suites in the Bruce Block were emptied and everything was carried to the street in front of the hotel until town transports and trucks hauled it to various storage places. Only store records and files were removed from the Red & White. At the other end of the fire line, Stu Joiner took his records from his Central Meat and Locker plant next to the burning Simpson building closed the door and went up on his roof to help protect his store.

Firemen had hoses running from the hydrant at the hotel corner, from the cistern in the alley behind the hotel and from the cistern by the Vulcan Auto Body Shop. Additionally, the Champion pumper arrived in time to take part in checking the fire's spread beyond the hardware and a 3,000 gallon hose tank of the County also was pressed into service. A delay caused by the primer on the first pumper used, caused loss of valuable seconds at the start of the fire and concern was felt for the water supply when all hoses were operating but the pressure remained up throughout the fire and the supply was kept adequate by a tank hauling system. Norman Soder brought a 500 gallon tank, Alex Grant used his 1,800 gallon tank truck from his Texaco bulk station and Norman Bucholtz brought his similar unit with 1300 gallon capacity from his Imperial station. These tankers hauled to the cisterns from the airport well approximately four miles west of town and the fact that they were able to drive out, spend 20 minutes loading and return is evidence of the size and duration of the fire at its height.

The fire was fought from four sides. One or more hoses were run from the front street, the alley and from rooftops adjoining the burning buildings.

At about the time the peak was passed on the top floor of the hardware the Simpson building became completely engulfed and a stand was made by firemen to save Stu Joiner's store and locker plant and prevent the fire from running to the Vulcan Food Market, Vulcan Furniture store and the 5c to $1 Store, next in line.

Only inches separate the partial brick wall of Simpson's Plumbing from the Joiner building and firemen spraying from the Locker Plant roof were almost driven off by the flames. Fireman Don Larkins received light facial burns while handling a hose on this roof but the fire was contained at this point.

Firemen worked 'till 4:30 a.m. trying to get at the smouldering beams and woodwork between the roof structure and ceiling of the hardware and thousands of gallons of water were poured on the building. Inside the main store the impression was similar to the sound of a rain storm as the water leaked from the ceiling through the night and Monday morning.

Fortunately the main store area of the hardware did not burn. At one time burning embers were dropping through the ceiling, but they fell into several inches of water covering the floor and were extinguished. Over $1,000 worth of store-front windows somehow withstood the nearby flames and none broke and the heat level inside the store was low enough so that the paint section was undamaged.

Sunday was a sleepless night for those connected with the fire. Some firemen worked the night through and until noon Monday on the scene and others went to regular jobs in the morning while a few with Monday off, were able to sleep.

Insurance adjusters were in town Monday afternoon and a general re-occupation of the evacuated buildings took place, once the owners found out where their possessions had been hauled.

The aging New Club Cafe was a wood frame building with a high ceiling and separate second floor rooms which were unused. Insurance was carried on the cafe.

The Simpson Plumbing building was another of Vulcan's early business establishments and had been occupied for 15 years by John Simpson and son. A long aluminum covered storage building facing the alley also was destroyed. A 500-gallon propane tank used to heat the premises was safely disconnected and removed from the back of the lot. Some insurance was carried by the owners and they will still continue to operate under restricted conditions for the present.

A new roof and repairs to the wall next to the fire will be needed by the Central Meat and Locker Plant but there was no smoke damage and no damage to the locker plant where the temperature rose only one degree during the power cut-off. Insurance was carried by owner Stu Joiner. Stu attributed the thick brick wall of his building as a big reason that fire did not penetrate.

It is not known yet what the rebuilding or repair program will be for the hard hit John Wolfe Hardware. Monday the sagging

Schools To Open September 5

County of Vulcan Schools will re-open for the 1961-62 term on Tuesday, Sept. 5. It was decided at a meeting of the County School Committee this week.

Opening date for the schools was originally set for Sept. 1, a Friday, but with the Labor Day holiday on Monday this would have meant the schools opening for one day only before the three-day weekend.

The perennial teacher shortage seems to have eased somewhat this year and only one or two teachers are still needed to round out the staffs of County schools.

High productivity and low production costs are essential to profitable farming. Neither can be attained by using old-fashioned methods and obsolete machinery. The only way they can be achieved is by utilizing modern methods and up-to-date farm machinery.

Massey-Ferguson machines and implements are helping farmers the world over to make their particular farming operation more profitable by doing more work at less cost.

Main Street Fire

ceiling was bolstered by timbers and staff members began taking stock. This will be followed by another check by Insurance adjusters and it will be some time before exact plans for the future can be made. For Ray Wellman of the hardware staff, this will be his second bout with fire in recent years. He was burned out similarly in his own business at Blackie seven years ago.

The Fashionette building escaped pretty well unscathed structurally and it is thought the roof was not damaged from the heat. Smoke poured into the store basement and up through the heating vents from the hardware but the heavily stocked store was evacuated in time to minimize actual stock damage which has insurance coverage. A one-time bank building, the basement has thick cement foundation and the old vault, also downstairs, completely protected racks of clothing. It is hoped business will be resumed next week.

Two chairs and dental equipment of Dr. F. Schneider were removed in the face of the fire threat and were being replaced Monday and Tuesday in order to resume business immediately. Insurance was carried.

Occupants of the suites in the Bruce block moved back Monday and the day was spent by John Jamison in returning his premises to a business normal.

The cause of the fire is not known and there is little evidence left to put together any clues as to its start. The building belongs to a Chinese owner who lives in Toronto and was leased by Lee Park Sue in Vulcan.

A most fortunate aspect of the fire was that there was no wind blowing Sunday evening. Fire department officials felt a wind either up or down the block would have been disastrous for buildings in its path along the complete block at least.

WILL ALL THE PEOPLE BE DESTROYED IN A NUCLEAR WAR?

Theoretically it is possible, but as a practical endeavour it is impossible. There is not one single effect of a nuclear detonation which cannot be counteracted to a degree by some form of defence. Thus ensuring the survival of large numbers of people. Even the long term problem of radiation can be effectively controlled by decontamination measures. Radiation intensities decay rapidly so that they become less dangerous as time passes.
